Dear resident, business owner or other interested party,

This autumn, we will start working on the new layout for the square in front of the Thomas church. This new design will make the square greener, and a more attractive place in the neighbourhood for the residents to meet up. Before we start working on the square, we will first work on the underground water and sewage pipes. In this letter, we would like to inform you about the upcoming building activities, which will commence on 23 October.

Sewage and water pipes

Before we realise the new layout for the square in front of the Thomas church, we need to carry out some work on the pipes that run underneath the footpath in front of the church. We will replace the water pipes there, and create a new connection to the sewage system. These activities will start on 23 October and will last until Friday 10 November. The footpath in front of the church will be partially broken up. Pedestrians will be able to walk past the building site. The church itself will of course remain accessible. The activities will be audible in the immediate vicinity, but we do not expect this to amount to a major inconvenience.

New layout for square in front of the Thomas church

Once the underground work on the pipes has been completed, we will start on the new design for the square in front of the Thomas church on Monday 13 November. The square will become more easily accessible as a public space, increasing its value to the neighbourhood. We will add greenery, and there will be seating areas. These activities will be carried out on working days between 7:00 am and 7:00 pm, and will not generate any major inconvenience. During the activities, the church will remain accessible. Pedestrians will be able to walk past the Thomas church on a narrowed footpath. We expect to complete the new layout before the Christmas holiday.
